

Daz Smith Target tasked by Daz Smith - DS42
Remote viewed by Anita Ikonen - Method EEC
Target 2872-9393
Today August 17, 2018
Start 2:57 PM

Today August 17 2018
Start 2:57 PM
Target 2872-9393

There's a brown thing really close next to a person, they are very close to each other. Brown and red colors and a lot of stuff close to each other, things meaning objects such as furniture. Green somewhere nearby. The person is hollering something, shouting out to someone, the person appears to be stuck with one corner of the table pressing against their leg and cannot get away so the person is shouting to someone. But the person is not injured and is not alarmed. The person has brown hair.

It's a place where you can be. Meaning that people can be here and that it is a safe and comfortable place to be. There is something rounded there, from 9393. It's like a metal object standing tall, it has a bulb shape on its top and then a narrow waist and then a flat foot to stand on.

There's a lot here, from 2872. Green meaning plants or trees. A person. The furniture close by.

I don't get water or sky.

Something happened to a person here, the person was shouting out. The person got stuck with the edge of a table against their thigh and couldn't get loose.

Person gets stuck with pointy corner against thigh and is shouting, but it doesn't feel bad here. He has to go somewhere, but he can't because he has gotten stuck. He can't get away from being pressed in to his thigh by this thing that presses against it. He wanted to go somewhere but now he can't. Everything feels very good and positive here. I sense no anger or panic or pain or hatred or any such similar feelings. It's a happy place even. The mood is really good.

The pointy box (table) thing got in the way and now they have to handle it. But they are happy! It's like a great pleasant surprise!

9393 stinks. It is something that was meant to be avoided. It smells bad! I don't want to go there, people avoid going there to 9393. It's not a place for people to go to. Nobody goes here to 9393. It stinks.

The man puts his hands on the box and is happy about the box. It's this box that they found! And he was very happy to find it, to come across it!

The box is moving, floating, on water. The water seems to be under ground and not in the open outdoors. There's something underneath the box, like a grave and black soil dirt under the box. We are in a small under ground chamber. We are not in a building, we are not in the open outdoors. This chamber could be on ground level but the way that it is hidden and not obvious from the outdoors makes it seem like an underground chamber. It's very hidden and cramped. We are not like in a perfect room or a perfect building.

But he is so happy to be there! But he got stuck on the box. There's bones inside the box, finger and hand bones and a skeleton.

It's a happy discovery, a pleasant surprise! Because they have now just stumbled on it! So there is this thing on the ground and the person is looking at it. "Wow! How pleasant!"

The water flows down inward into the deep ground, a small stream of water flows directly down.

There's a baby in the box! A newfound baby. It is something precious that was found in the box.

Investigate box: Something crumbles inside the box when I press my hand into it. It feels like death inside the box. It's very fragile what is in the box. The thing in the box was carefully lifted up, it looked like a newborn baby.

Somebody was stopped here, at the target site. A person who is stuck he can't go somewhere else. We are inside an underground chamber, the walls are not flat like in a perfect room. It smells like soil and earth here and like mold and things like that. The person who got stuck is happy. The door to the exit has not been sealed or closed off so he could leave if only he wasn't stuck at the box. The door to leave is actually behind him and not in front of him, so he was heading directed inward inside the chamber and he hadn't been headed out away to the exit when he got stuck.

Investigate box: The man got pressed with the box pressing against him so he has gotten stuck because the box was pressing into him. The box pins him so that he cannot leave. So the box has moved toward him. The box smells funky like soil and dirt and earth and mold and fungus. There is death underneath the box, in the soil under the box. Strangely, the box has moved. There is movement about the box, not that the man moved it, but the box seems to have moved on its own.

Hand on the box: There is a skeleton underneath the box. And it smells like funky soil earth there.

Investigate skeleton: Dust and powder surrounds the skeleton.

It smells under the box like soil, black soil.

The red thing comes back as an IE. Investigate the red thing: The red thing is a man squatting down on the ground and he is investigating something that is there on the bare dirt ground, he looks at it and might even be picking at things with his fingers. This whole target really is like an archaeological discovery and investigation.

9393: A thing with a rounded shape with regard to the horizontal plane, meaning it is not a sphere. It's very heavy. It sinks into the ground, it is so heavy that it sinks and falls into the soft wet soil! The soil is wet.

Investigate the rounded object: It smells bad it stinks.

Put hands on the object: Very smooth and cold and now I also see that it is electrically conducting (which is consistent with it being metal).

Go inside the object: Bones, a dead body.

Go inside the object again: It stinks! Rounded object.

It smells bad there! It is electrically conducting on the surface because it stings my hand when I put my hand against the outer surface, and inside of it it stinks.

I will push the body to see if it is alive, inside of the metal urn: It's a man, not a skeleton. It stinks there!

Investigate the top of the urn: There is blood inside the urn.

Top view of the urn: The urn has fallen slowly and dropped into somewhere and it even fell down onto its side. It's too heavy to be carried by one or two persons.

It stinks there!

Someone had to use a chisel with a hammer to break open the box.

Investigate person who got stuck: He was very happy to be there. He had found something that he laid his eyes on eagerly, this object was on the ground, the box that he got stuck on. His whole attention is to what is on the ground.

Investigate thing on the ground: It has got bones in it.

And I find this rounded urn. The target is this thing that is on the ground which was embedded in the ground but is now back up from the ground.

Hands on the box: Something snaps easily and breaks inside the box. The remains of a person are inside of that box.

To get to this chamber from the outdoors outside, you have to crawl through a somewhat narrow opening and then you get into this chamber.

Investigate green element: Something that you could put your hand right through, hand goes easily right into it.

It feels very light and fresh.

9393 is this object that sunk into the ground. Because it's heavy and the soil underneath it was soft and wet from the water.

So we are dealing with a hidden treasure that BY ITSELF emerged again, this object ON ITS OWN moved back to the surface to be visible. It's not that people dug it up or even found it.

Investigate sharp corner at the thigh: The man got pressed against the wall by the sharp corner of this box. He couldn't get away. What puzzles me is that the box is moving as if with intelligence, the box moved closer and closer against the person, almost as if on purpose.

Investigate corner of box: No, it is that the man had crammed himself into a tight space, that is what this is all about.

Investigate corner of box: The box is an object and not a person or an animal, yet the box corner slowly presses in toward the man's thigh, the man feels a bit agitated when this happens.

Investigate the thigh: The man really wanted to be here. He was going somewhere where he shouldn't have gone. There is water pouring down along the walls in this chamber here.

Investigate the urn: The urn fell down onto its side and continued to sink down into the ground, it became hidden therefore. It's very heavy. It stings my hand when I hold my hand against the outer surface, it's this electrical sting like from a battery, not electrical sparks or electrical shocks but an electric sting.

Taste test outside of urn: I find the black death soil again.

Investigate black soil: The black soil is very wet from water. So there is a skeleton inside of it.

Metal thing that sinks down.

The metal thing did not touch any houses.

It touched some houses and some bedrooms with beds.

It's this metal urn that sinks down. It moved past some houses past the roof tops of homes. It's so heavy.

It cracked and crumbled, there is breakage, it broke.

4:08 PM Going to see the target feedback page.

ELEMENTS LISTING

IE: Person, brown hair, got stuck with one edge corner of a table against their thigh, shouts out for someone.

IE: The table, has a sharp corner.

IE: The bell-shaped tall thing which has a waist and then a flat foot to stand on, is made out of brass metal.

IE: Green in the background.

IE: Red in the background.

SE: Black soil underneath the box.

SE: Skeleton inside the box with finger and hand bones and skeleton.

SE: A baby is in the box.

SE: Body inside of the metal urn.

SE: Chisel with hammer to break open the lid of the box.

2872-9393