

Lyn Buchanan Target tasked by Lyn Buchanan - LB32

Remote viewed by Anita Ikonen - Method EEC

Target Jan 10 , 2007

Today October 15, 2018

Start 11:18 AM

Today October 15 2018

Start 11:18 AM

Target Jan 10 , 2007

Blue color. Large object. Not very tall considering its size. Not a lot of people walk around or stomp around this place. Nothing that is moving so it is not a vehicle. We also do not go high up into the air. Colors are gray steel color and blue. Leonard's clue says it is a manmade so I have seen that.

There are no windows on it. There are no soft or round shapes. There are no women here. It is a large object with two sections on it, as drawn. There are many things inside of it, like drapes and people. Drapes meaning like curtains. Lots of rooms and compartments and several floors. It is not as tall as one might think it to be considering its size.

The back of it tapers off at the back instead of being block shaped, as drawn.

There are many little dark gray marbles that have been set on the ground before it, like gravel.

Hands do not slide easily across the surface of the blue thing, fingers and hands would experience friction and get stuck on the surface when trying to slide the hands across.

There is a big lamp on the front that shines.

There is a brown basket inside where people can lie on it. Lots of people are inside this blue thing. There are rooms for people inside this blue thing.

I go inside, there is a crowd of people inside and I hear the talking of a crowd. Women are there.

There are hallways and floors and there are signs that are white plaques that give names to the hallways or rooms or directions to those, these white plaques are attached high up on walls. There are doors to go through to go inside of this blue thing.

Windows and screens which are reflective as I see my face reflected on it.

Investigate ground outside next to or in front of the blue thing. Coarse, gravel. One can lose footing here because the gravel is loose under the feet. People are sleeping inside of small cabin rooms inside of the blue thing, and they each have a drape curtain to cover their windows with.

I go inside of the blue thing, there are a lot of hallways here. It is serious and busy here. People walk fast here. Someone is wiping a small white cloth on the outside surface of the blue thing. Gravel outside on the ground. People lie down here on the brown seat. Then the person rolls over to one side and goes to sleep.

The taller portion of the blue building has a lot of windows on it like a lookout point for people to see outside. There is a yellow pipe here on the inside of the building when I am standing by the windows on the inside side of the windows.

Like a tent with lots of people inside it. Roses are here, earlier I saw a yellow rose now I saw a red rose these are outside. The blue thing is large and is embedded into the ground it continues under the ground level and also above ground level.

I touch the brown seat and my hand comes across the face of a person who is lying on it. If we are upstairs at the windows then there is a staircase that leads down from that level towards the ground level. There is a drape that is placed on the ground possibly to serve as a rug.

Investigate drapes: It is to cover or to hide something. They are hiding the staircase that takes even further down below. The large element is embedded into the ground. Lots of people are here. The blue building is pointy on the top and does not have a level flat roof, it is also narrower on the top than at the base. Staircases. Seats, lots of seats. Passageways hallways.

At the back there is a large balcony and another staircase leads up to it from outside.

This is a building where lots of people can go to, it feels like a United Nations building of sorts. There are lots of staircases also one at the front. The front staircase leads downward not up, and we would go to the level that is below ground level. There are roses and flower gardens outside.

12:10 noon. Ok I am tired since I already did a target before this one. I hope to see a building with a balcony and staircases. The dowsing map shows an island. I should have spent more time on this one I could have done well I seem to have been on the right track. I was seeing the white poles but I was too lazy to draw them. The gardens, the balcony, the structure being embedded into the ground, and the United Nations feel. The target was the Arecibo telescope, see the pictures on the feedback page. I rate this one a C or a B because I recognize what I was seeing.

Jan 10 , 2007