ProjectX Target 7

Water.

3:30 PM End session. If this one isn't water then I will not do any more targets from this target pool. I am done with finding a black or gray box and nonresponsive elements and target sites. I am much better as a remote viewer than this. These targets are not functional.

This target was the explosions at world trade center and the right answer would have been energy.

I conclude that these targets are not functional and the system for grading is also not. I will not do any more targets from this resource. I will outline my reasoning on my website.
