Noetic Target 2
Today February 22, 2019
Start 10:03 PM

This one is blue, it is a tall tube shaped structure which takes up most of the photo size, it narrows down as it reaches upward, it reminds me of the gray cement big chimneys that nuclear energy reactors have. The background of it is blue, a deep intense blue.

The target feels serious, strong, powerful, relentless, it has a poise and an integrity.

It is poised, strong, massive, and powerful. It is power and punch.

The blue surrounds it, sometimes blue indicates water.

Secondary element, there is a brown board which is used as a bridge path at some elevation. Not very long or wide but is large enough for a person to walk across.

There is something yellow bulky or blubbery inside at the bottom is glowing.

The board is very high up at an altitude. The target feels poised like military like Navy. It is strong and majestic. The gray element vibrates a little, so it is active with something. There IS water surrounding it! Because I placed my fingertip against the outside wall at center elevation on the gray thing and I saw again the strong blue color in the background and this time I also sensed it to be water.

There is a sense of balance or floating. The yellow glows on the inside at the bottom of the gray thing. What I want is the 3-dimensional shape of the gray element, I probably have its shape as seen on the photo but I want a 3-dimensional shape in order to better know what this is.

It's like a coal plant, plant as in industrial power facility. Yep! There is water there! On the right side, not all seen in the picture but some sure, is a big square shaped basin of water and the surface of the water has nice dense waves, it is unusual waves the waves oscillate fast but are not very tall and the humps of the waves are very close to each other!

The gray is part of a power facility structure. The river runs from the right side diagonally downward in front of it.

On the ground in front of the gray are some oval smooth rocks of color pale gray or white.

There is a yellow symbol on the gray, it looks like a radiation warning symbol for a nuclear power plant, I will attempt to draw it.

10:26 PM End session. I could explore further but am afraid if the target will reset for some reason.

Feedback: I was surprised again! Well done! It is indeed a gray, not chimney but skyscraper and against a blue background! My colors, shapes, and initial elements were all correct. I judge that logic may have wanted to interpret the blue color as water, and the direction I went on with the secondary stage was wrong as it lead me to power plant and such. I see in this session that the initial stage was beautifully spot on and flawless as well as perfect! Secondary stage seems to have been orchestrated by logic, simply because it went the wrong way.

This session had me scored with 95 out of 100 on the automatic system.

ELEMENTS LISTING

IE. The tube see description above.

IE and SE. Blue surrounds the gray element.

SE. Water. River.

SE. Brown board used as a bridge path at some elevation, is not long or very wide but enough for a person to walk across.

SE. Yellow blubbery glowing material inside at the bottom of the gray thing.

SE. Oval smooth pale gray or white rocks on the ground in front of the gray element.

SE. Yellow symbol on the gray element, reminds me of a nuclear power plant radiation symbol.
